

Our Project

Our design integrates a scheduling function into the existing chat interface that allows a group member to select a meeting date, start and end time, duration, and location. It then automatically chooses the best time.

We simplified the meeting scheduling process by reducing the amount of time it took to agree upon a meeting time.

